

LogOSMaTran Licensing Policy

LogOSMaTran has two licensing options. No matter which license you choose, the overall business benefit of the Logos MT system is a dramatically lower total cost of ownership.

The guiding business principle of Logos MT is one of fair exchange, or Quid pro Quo ("something for something"). From a licensing perspective, we have two different products depending on usage and distribution, though technically they have the same source code.

Thanks to our licensing model, we are capable of producing superior software at a much lower cost than proprietary software vendors. Our licensing options include:

- The Commercial License, which allows you to provide commercial software licenses to your customers or distribute Logos MT based applications or to use LogOSMaTran for commercial purposes. This is for organizations that do not want to release the source code for their applications as open source / free software; in other words they do not want to comply with the GNU General Public License (GPL).
- For those developing open source applications, the Open Source License allows you to offer your software under an open source / free software license to all who wish to use, modify, and distribute it freely. The Open Source License allows you to use the software at no charge under the condition that if you use LogOSMaTran in an application you redistribute, the complete source code for your application must be available and freely redistributable under reasonable conditions. GlobalWare AG bases its interpretation of the GPL on the Free Software Foundation's Frequently Asked Questions.

LogOSMaTran is distributed in the hope that it will be useful, but WITHOUT ANY WARRANTY; without even the implied warranty of MERCHANTABILITY or FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE. See the GNU General Public License for more details.
